

Mental Health Interns

The contract between EPSY and Brazos Valley Head Start is to provide two doctoral students in school psychology to work as 'Mental Health Interns' in the Head Start program. Their duties include responsibility for screening the more than 500 students in the areas of aptitude, achievement and mental health at the start of their Head Start program. They also take major responsibility in the administration of the NRS a national Head Start achievement examination. Finally, the SPSY doctoral students work with the students, staff and families of Head Start on issues of mental health. Dr. Ash supervises these two students as well as providing consultation to Head Start staff.
