Introduction

School counselors are professionals who work with children and adolescents, school faculty, and families in the schools. Drawing on several specific skills, school counselors are asked to address an increasingly complex array of social and psychological problems.

To competently serve youth in schools, school counselors must develop an awareness of the ecosystems affecting children as well as the unique factors that contribute to their development and their social and academic success. For school counselors to be effective, they must practice culturally relevant and culturally competent interventions. This requires a solid understanding of the dynamic ways in which national origin, race, ethnicity, religion, sexual orientation, gender, gender-identity, and disability affect child development and relationships. School counselors must also be familiar with other systems of human ecology, especially the school system, the workforce, and the nature of family dynamics.

TAMU School Counseling Mission

The mission of the TAMU School Counseling Track is to prepare exemplary professional school counselors and leaders. The curriculum uses a scholar-practitioner approach that integrates the use of current technology, on-site practicum experiences, and intellectual and creative resources to work with an increasingly diverse and global society. The school counseling curriculum educates well-rounded counselors who demonstrate competencies as set forth by the Texas Education Agency and the American School Counselor Association.

STUDENT CONTRACT

We are delighted that you have chosen to pursue graduate study in school counseling at TAMU! Consistent with the goals of TAMU and the College of Education and Human Development, school counseling students are expected to develop values and ethics to guide personal and professional decisions and behavior. These dispositions are founded on the concepts of caring, fairness, flexibility, honesty, responsibility, and social justice. Accordingly, students are expected to respect individual differences, work cooperatively, explore alternative theories and viewpoints, appreciate the unique abilities of self and others, respect various forms of self expression, and accept responsibility for one's choices.

As a student in school counseling, you are expected to maintain a high level of academic achievement. Towards this end, students may not graduate with a grade less than a "B" on their degree plan. Furthermore, students on academic probation are not allowed to enroll in the required practicum and internship courses. Because courses are offered only once a year, we require students to follow the course sequence as posted in this handbook.

Completion of the master's degree is dependent not only on academic performance but also on the demonstration of appropriate interpersonal skills, professional demeanor, and social and ethical judgment. If concerns arise, the faculty will meet to evaluate the severity and nature of the concern and to suggest an appropriate course of action. Some suggestions may include: desist temporarily from course work, repeat courses, professional development and/or remediation activities, or withdraw from the program permanently. The faculty reserves the right to make recommendations based on their professional judgment concerning student needs and concerns.

To be eligible for school counselor certification in the State of Texas, all field placements must be fulfilled in a TEA-approved school. Additional requirements are outlined in this handbook. Out-of-state applicants are responsible for researching their state's requirements related to out-of-state educational programs and certification requirements.

We attempt to accommodate working students who have busy lives. However, a challenging and time consuming two (or more) years will be required of each of you. Please carefully weigh this commitment with other personal and professional demands. Attendance in each class is paramount and high quality work is expected. As this is an online program, students must have (but not limited to) access to fast and reliable internet, laptop and/or computer, video creation and editing software, and headsets with microphones.

Please note that our program does not prepare students for LPC certification. Our sole focus is on training school counselors. As such, we do not offer the additional courses required for an LPC.

I have carefully read the above statement and the contents in this handbook. I agree to the terms as outlined. Please sign and email student contract to epsyadvisor@tamu.edu.

Student Grievance Process

In addition to the grievance procedures established by the University, the Department of Educational Psychology has developed the following process. It is known as the Student Advocate Office and is described as follows:

There is a Student Advocate Office within the EPSY department. An EPSY faculty member selected by the Department Head assumes the Student Advocate position. Graduate and Undergraduate Grievance Advisory Committees have been established. Each committee is made up of one faculty member and two students. The purpose of these committees is threefold.

- 1) To advise the Student Advocate concerning policy and issues related to faculty/student relations in EPSY,
- 2) To forward possible student concerns to the Student Advocate, and
- 3) To aid in the resolution of student concerns when requested by the Student Advocate.

The following policies were derived by the Student Advocate in consultation with EPSY faculty, students and the department head.

Pre-condition to Student's Initiation of the Grievance Process:

Students are encouraged to meet with and attempt to resolve problems with the faculty member. If a student has met with the faculty member and the problem has not been resolved, he or she should contact the Student Advocate or a member of the Grievance Advisory Committee.

OR:

If students do not choose to meet with the faculty member due to the nature of the problem or the impaired relationship with the faculty member, they also may directly contact the Student Advocate or a member of the Grievance Advisory Committee and initiate the grievance process.

Overview of Grievance Process

A student who has a faculty-student concern and who has addressed the preconditions for initiation of the grievance process is encouraged to meet with the Student Advocate. However, a student may choose to meet first with other EPSY faculty member(s).

Depending upon the nature of the student's concern, the Student Advocate may consult with the identified faculty member, the program coordinator or the department head. At the discretion of the department head, the student's concern may be communicated to the College Of Education and Human Development (CEHD) Dean's office. When there is a discussion of a particular faculty-student concern, maintaining anonymity of the student may not be possible. However, confidentiality of information, as outlined in American Psychology Association ethical principles, will be maintained.

Resolution of Student Concerns

Resolution of a student's concern may occur as a result of:

- 1) Student's dialogue with the faculty member, a Grievance Advisory Committee member or the Student Advocate.
- 2) Student Advocate's consultation with the Grievance Advisory Committee and/or discussions with the faculty member.
- 3) Student Advocate's discussion of the student's concern with the program coordinator or the department head. As a result of these discussions, the Student Advocate and/or the department head may confer with the faculty member.
- 4) Pending the outcome of the above mentioned 3), or the nature of the student's concern, the department head and/or student may enter into discussion with the CEHD Dean's office and appropriate University committees and administrators.
